

Award Winning Team

Principals David Aldrich and John Lechler offer more than 40 years of combined experience in creating residences of superior quality and timeless beauty. Dave and John personally oversee all aspects of planning, designing and construction for every home they build. From the onset, each partner brings their own wealth of knowledge and expertise to every pre-construction meeting that is scheduled with each customer before any plans are drawn or construction commences. The team listens and provides solutions to any concerns that may arise prior to construction; thus, avoiding cost increases and time delays.

*“It is the customer that has the vision of what they want.
It is our commitment and responsibility to bring that vision to reality.”*

The Company, United Construction Group LLC or referred to as Lechler-Aldrich by its fellow contractors, is highly diversified in its abilities. The primary passion is building luxury custom homes. Currently the company has entered into an exclusive relationship with Prudential FL WCI Relaty for building homes for their clients on Marco Island and in Hideaway Beach. In addition to this niche marketplace, United Construction has gone International, acting as Builder-Developer on two projects in The Turks and Caicos Islands. Between Marco and Grand Caicos, United Construction is making a name as being “Island Builders.” Additionally, over the years Dave and John have delivered homes that appeal to the “family” buyer as well as several residential refurbishments and commercial projects in Southwest Florida. With a professional support staff and preferred vendors and subcontractors, UCG is able to fulfill all the needs of the customer in creating their “dream home.”

The Company has earned two distinctive awards in Southwest Florida:
The Sand Dollar Award and the CBIA HomeFest Award.
